Creating value through future based ideas development

At Future Navigator we work with Future Based Ideas Development.

We believe in a human oriented perspective of the future. Our aim is to inspire and provoke you to think in new ways of creating value for your customers or citizens. We look behind trends and focus on the things that will be "original", and "meaningful" to people: Situations, symbolism, relations, new rituals and lifestyles. The goal is to improve your ability to create new concepts, services, and products that will create value for the people of tomorrow.

We specialize in tailor making all our work to fit the individual clients needs and we have extensive experience in delivering keynotes and presentations to large audiences with both insight, humor and visual power.

We also don't believe that we can change people. But people can choose to change for the better if they see themselves in a positive, proactive vision. So we love to take our clients on a roller coaster ride in our various workshops or bigger projects - for example: "Going from the most - to the best", "Blindspotting and trendspotting", or "Future Based Idea Developing" to name a few.

Recent clients

Liselotte Lyngsø, Managing Partner & Futurist

Liselotte Lyngsø is probably one of the most inspirational and enthusiastic persons you will ever meet. Her ability to paint mental pictures and inspire people to align towards shared goals is out of this world. She will spin you head around and show you possibilities you never dreamed existed – if you are honest about building a better tomorrow.
